DenHaus Pet Furniture Welcomes Pets into Stylish Home Décor

BELLEVUE, WA – You consider your dog or cat part of the family but their ugly crate is banished to a separate room away from the family. Or your only other choice is a hair-covered dog pillow in the middle of your nice home. You really would like your pet to be part of family life without the mess or unsightliness of a crate or pillow.

DenHaus, a company located in Bellevue, WA, creates pet furniture that solves these common problems problem. The stylish dens are designed to blend into the décor of nice homes and at the same time provide a comfortable, out-of-the-way space for pets. Available in a variety of classy styles from traditional end tables to contemporary pieces, the dens invite a dog or cat to become part of the family environment without banishing them to an unattractive crate.

The pet dens come in a variety of colors and sizes, accommodating small toy dogs or cats to large breeds. Uniquely designed, the front doors can be removed to allow your pets to come and go or closed to contain a pet when necessary. DenHaus also offers cushioned beds sized to fit within the furniture to create a comfortable, welcoming space for the pet.

DenHaus was started in 2005 by the husband-and-wife team Sarah and Chris Pierce. Initially they experimented with furniture designs to accommodate their hound Amber in the living room of their newly purchased home in Bellevue, WA. They wanted their dog to be comfortable in her own space without distracting from the interior design of their home. Sarah and Chris worked together on the design and quickly built a prototype. "It fit perfectly into the style of our home and Amber immediately took to it as her own hideaway," says Sarah. "We've found the products satisfy an animal's natural craving for a cave-like environment and their desire to be near family activity."

The original product, called the Hardwood Hideaway, looks like traditional, Craftsman hardwood end tables with three types of glossy finishes. The company product line now includes Zen-like contemporary designs made of durable fiberglass in a variety of modern colors. All designs can be assembled quickly and are easy to keep clean. Prices range from $400-500.

As DenHaus customer Holly Gray says, "The Zen Hideaway is the first product I have seen that brings balance between my modern home decor and my pet. I love how my dog's home can be as unique as I prefer my own home to be."

DenHaus Inc., located in Bellevue, WA, near Seattle, creates finely crafted furniture designed to fit into stylish homes yet customized to serve as a cozy den for pets. For further information go to the website: www.denhaus.com.
